

Exhibition Schedule for Kiwanis Gallery 2019

December 29, 2018 to February 18, 2019 Through the Window: Mixed Media by Margriet Hogue

This series of mixed media works is based on photographs of flora and fauna the artist observed while travelling through nature. Many images were taken from the window overlooking her garden. Observing the natural world, even within an urban setting, offers a different experience of time and how the cyclical seasons have so much to teach about the significance of life.

The Canada Winter Games are being hosted in Red Deer from February 15 to March 3, 2019. To help Red Deer celebrate and give our visual arts members a chance to flex their 'winter' muscles, our theme is wide open to their interpretation of how one spends winter, what one thinks of winter, what one does in winter or how one interprets winter - they used their creative imagination to give us this wonderful exhibit (no going south for this exhibit!).

June 17 to August 17 DisBound: Works by Kim Bruce

DisBound is an exhibition about education for girls. It's about choice. It's about girls, and boys too, but mostly girls, who, due to tradition or religion, don't get to choose. They are married off as soon as they hit puberty and often left to fend for themselves and their children because of war, strife or circumstance. DisBound is a bookbinding term that means to remove the book pages from its bindings; it is a metaphor for removing girls from the bonds of tradition so they can get an education. DisBound should not be confused with unbound, which is a bookbinding term used to describe pages that were never bound to begin with. Kim uses books as her canvas because books are knowledge and knowledge empowers.

November 19 to December 22 Out of the Kitchen: Works by Susan Barker and Issy Covey

These two artists have been creating their artwork in the kitchen, the heart of the home, in the midst of the hustle and bustle. Working from their kitchens has inspired both artists to create 'kitchen' art about the place they work. The work is immediately available to walk past and check on the clay or add a few brush loads of paint, then carry on with daily life or continue to work on their pieces throughout the day. What would your kitchen produce if you were an artist?
