Carol Lynn Gilchrist

By Michael Lupul

Carol Lynn Gilchrist is a semi-retired community planner from Central Alberta who has begun to pursue her passion for painting. Both her art and her work deal with the natural and the built environments, as well as the activities of people. Carol Lynn believes that our cities, and by extension, our lives, are comprised of the relationships, connections, intersections, tensions, and overlap of these four things.

Her career has taught her that place matters and she reflects “that the older you get the more meaning you find in those memories of a place, its geography, and its people”. She has a lifetime of stored images of rolling hills of mixed aspen forests, patterns of fields in fallow, hay and other crops, and rivers and creeks that meander through valleys and form wetlands which give way to the vast grasslands of southern Alberta. Common themes are “where earth meets sky and land meets water” and so true to her prairie roots, the horizon line is a dominate design element in her paintings.

Carol Lynn’s first solo show titled “Nature in the City” runs from June 1st to July 30th at the Corridor Gallery, with an artist reception on July 5th from 6:00 pm to 7:30 pm. She engages the viewer in urban design concepts at the macro level, where we are concerned with the physical context and the relationship between the built form and the natural setting which together form the image of the city. Her hand-drawn painted maps celebrate the river valley and remnant pieces of the parkland found within our city. The maps represent the deconstruction of the multi-layered maps she creates for community planning projects. She was curious about the process of stripping away the complex layers and reducing the urban form information to communicate the essence of a place. She chose to use embossing to subtly hint at a conversation she wishes to have with her viewers. The raised and lowered portions of the map relate to the intersection of the natural and man-made worlds, our impact, and our settlement patterns.

Carol Lynn’s art will be featured in two other group exhibits this summer, the Harris – Warke Gallery’s “Rooted in the Arts” which is a juried exhibition, and “Celebration of the Ghosts” at The Hub on Ross. She has also been tasked with designing a large (6’ x 12’) exterior mural that will celebrate one-hundred years of people, place, and memories. The mural will be located in Riverside Meadows and will be unveiled in the fall of 2013.

Carol Lynn paints with the Red Deer Art Club and is a member of the Alberta Community Art Clubs Association (ACACA) and the Red Deer Arts Council. Her work can be seen at these member-run exhibitions. For more information, she can be contacted by email at: clgilchrist@shaw.ca
